DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-16 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Matsunaga et al (US 6114828).

Claims 1,9: Matsunaga et al teach a temperature sensor (6) that detects a temperature of junctions (T1-T6) supplying currents to phases (U, V, W) of a motor (5; col. 3:43-59, col. 7:25-30); a controller (12) that controls a torque (col. 7:8-15), detects a stalled state (col. 4:8-21), detects a phase angle the motor (10; col. 3:60-67) and selects a temperature detected by the temperature sensor based on the detected current (col. 4:32-37); wherein the torque of the motor is reduced when the stalled state is detected (col. 4:21-32) and the temperature exceeds a threshold (col. 6:49-55).

Claims 2,5,10,13: the controller selects a phase when a temperature is within a range where a maximum current flows in the phase (col. 4:4:62-5:5; 5:59-6:5).

Claims 3,4,11,12: the phase angle is based on the rotational angle of the motor (col. 3:60-63).

Claims 6, 7,14,15: the controller reduces the torque until the temperature exceeds the limit (col. 4:62-5:5).

Claim 8,16: when the stall occurs outside a predetermined range of a phase, a phase having the maximum temperature is selected (col. 4:9-36).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 12/28/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that Matsunaga et al do not teach reducing torque when a selected temperature exceeds a restrictive temperature, Matsunaga et al teach reducing the torque when a temperature exceeds a threshold. This temperature includes any "selected" temperature. Applicant has not further limited the claims as to what "selected" means, therefore there is nothing in applicant's claim language that precludes the examiner from reading Matsunaga as meeting the claimed limitations.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
